

ESTIMATES GIVEN FREE.
IN LONDON OR PROVINCES.
FOR DECORATING
PRIVATE HOUSES, BARS, HOTELS, RESTAURANTS, THEATRES, &c. WITH ASPINALL'S ENAMEL.
ASPINALL'S ENAMEL, LTD.,
WORKS, LONDON.

The People.

A Weekly Newspaper for All Classes.

GEORGE GREGORY
AND COMPANY,
STOCK AND SHARE DEALERS,
LONDON, BRIGHTON, HASTINGS.
Head Office:
No. 4, TOWERHOUSE BUILDINGS, LOTHURST, BANK OF ENGLAND, LONDON, E.C.
Branch Office:
London, W., No. 25, Finsbury, Finsbury Circus.
Birmingham, No. 22, Corporation Street, North Street, Quadrant.
Hastings, Queen's Chambers, adjoining the Queen's Hotel.
AGENCIES IN ALL LARGE TOWNS.
"HINTS TO SPECULATORS."
50 PAGES, 6th EDITION, ILLUSTRATED.
Gratis and Post Free on Application.

ONE PENNY. [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.] LONDON, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1892. [LONDON] STRAND.—No. 572

THIRD EDITION.
"THE PEOPLE" OFFICE.
Saturday Evening.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

THE CHOLERA.

IMPROVEMENT AT HAMBURG.

LETTER FROM THE KAISER.

HAMBURG, September 23.—The official cholera bulletin to-day shows some improvement, which is particularly noticeable in the number of deaths. In all 199 cases and 69 deaths were reported yesterday, including 30 cases and 29 deaths belonging to previous days. The total for yesterday is thus 14 cases and 49 deaths, against 150 and 63 respectively on the 21st. The return of the number of patients and dead bodies taken to the hospitals and mortuaries also show a decrease of 17 and 5 respectively.

BERLIN, September 23.—The Emperor has addressed an autograph letter to the committee formed in this city for the relief of the sufferers from cholera at Hamburg. His Majesty, in his own name as well as in that of the Empress, expresses lively satisfaction at the formation of the committee, coupled with the hope that good may richly bless the noble work it has undertaken. In order to show his hearty sympathy with the sorely stricken city, the Emperor contributes a sum of 10,000 marks to the relief fund.

MUNICH, September 23.—The situation is becoming more serious in the district of Bogenhausen, whilst from Pasing, Wammes, and St. Gihlain a large number of fresh cases of cholera and several deaths are reported.

SOFIA, September 23.—M. Dumay, one of the working men deputies, his wife, and one child have been attacked with choleraic diarrhoea. They have been conveyed to the Tenon Hospital, where they are reported to be progressing satisfactorily.

SOPTA, September 21.—In order to prevent the importation of cholera into the principality the Medical Council has adopted the following measures which came into operation last week:—Passengers and merchandise coming from infected countries will only be permitted to enter Bulgaria by way of Lom Palanka, Eustukh, Varna, Bourgas, or Taurbrod. The passage of the Orient express through Bulgarian territory is temporarily stopped. Waggons belonging to foreign railways, destined either for Bulgaria, or in transit to Constantinople, are not permitted to enter the country, and the merchandise which they may carry will be disinfected at Taurbrod and reloaded in waggons on the Bulgarian railway. Goods thus imported after having undergone disinfection, may be imported into Bulgaria from Germany, even when conveyed in special waggons, is prohibited. Tank cars, containing alcohol from Austria-Hungary, are to be permitted to enter the country after having been disinfected at Taurbrod. The importation of all kinds of sausages and sausage meat, hams, caviars, cheese, butter, and other preserves, from any country is entirely stopped. The prohibition against the importation of petroleum from Batoum is, however, removed. The cases of petroleum will, on their arrival at the frontier be left exposed to the air for twelve hours and disinfected with carbolic acid. Passengers arriving from the Upper Danube will have to undergo three days quarantine either at Rustukh, Lom Palanka, Stora, Silistra, Widdin, or Vratsa. The regulations further exclude the entry of postal packets from infected countries which will be sent back on arrival at the frontier, and goods waggons from Austria or Serbia will be sent to Constantinople which have been sealed by the authorities are not allowed to pass through Bulgaria.

CHERNOVO, September 21.—The statement that cholera had broken out here proves to be unfounded. The report appears to have originated in the fact that two workmen died of acute diarrhoea. Their illness, however, lasted several days, had nothing of a choleraic character.

THE OUTBREAK AT CRACOW.

VIENNA, September 23.—The medical correspondent of the Neue Freie Presse at Cracow gives a distressing picture of the epidemic of cholera in the city. The epidemic is now at its height, and that of all kinds is thrown into the streets, which thus become veritable hot-beds of disease. The writer states that the number of cholera cases has doubled within the last two days, and charges the authorities with neglecting to take the most elementary precautions, as for instance, the closing of infected houses. The male inhabitants regard the inhalation of the smoke from cigarettes as an effective preventive against cholera, in support of which assumption reliance is placed on the fact that only five men have hitherto been seized with the disease.

PRECAUTIONS IN AUSTRIA.

The Press Association learns that Sir Saul Samuel, Agent-General for New South Wales in London, has received the following official telegram from Sydney:—"Cholera.—All vessels leaving Bremen or Hamburg, after August 10, will be quarantined here, and passengers, crews, and cargo specially dealt with." Copies of this notification are being posted at the Customs houses and mercantile marine offices throughout the kingdom for the information of ship masters and brokers. The quarantine period to the end of October is the longest export period to the Australian colonies, many vessels have already left for ports named for Sydney and Adelaide.

A CABIN PASSENGER'S CLAIM.

A Danish telegram from New York states that Mr. Van Rensselaer, a cabin passenger on the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, has begun a suit for 10,000 dollars, damages against the Hamburg-American Steamship Company. He claims that the company was guilty of a breach of contract, in carrying passengers on the late voyage after the vessel had been distinctly declared that this would be done. He further charges that the company to the passengers was greatly increased because the storage was not properly inspected, and the medical attendance was very deficient. Three suspicious cases of cholera in England were reported on Friday to the medical department of the Local Government Board, but it was found afterwards that none of the cases were Asiatic cholera.

THE RELEASE OF MR. DEACON.

PARIS, September 23.—An encounter occurred yesterday afternoon in the district of St. Maurice between a military patrol and a band of brigands under the leadership of the notorious bandit, Leonarda. After twenty minutes' sharp fighting, Leonarda was wounded and arrested. None of the soldiers were wounded.

A FIGHT WITH BRIGANDS.

PARIS, September 23.—A representative of the Gauche has had an interview at Versailles with M. Bayol, former governor of Dahomey. M. Bayol thinks that vigorous action is necessary to restore order in Dahomey, and he is of opinion that the energetic attitude of Mr. Doda is well calculated to gain that end. He regrets very much that similar steps were not taken two years ago, for since that time the markets of Dahomey have been practically closed to the French. M. Bayol believes that when a serious defeat had been inflicted on King Behanzin, he will either come to terms or be driven up by his own soldiers.

THE NETHERLANDS BUDGET.

THE HAGUE, September 23.—The Netherlands Budget for 1893 has been presented to the States-General. The revenue, exclusive of the taxes which are now under discussion by Parliament, is estimated at 128,000,000 florins and the expenditure at 131,800,000 florins, which comprises a sum of 3,000,000 florins for railways and canals. The deficit of 3,800,000 florins will be covered by a loan of 10,000,000 florins. The budget includes a naval credit of 1,500,000 florins.

FIRE AT A RAILWAY STATION.

NANCY, September 23.—A serious fire occurred at a railway station here last night, damage to the extent of 200,000fr. being done. A fireman was seriously injured.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN ST. THOMAS.

NEW YORK, September 23.—Advices from St. Thomas state that an extensive riot has just taken place there, the disturbance being so great that the troops were called out to quell it. They met the mob near the English Bank, and a sharp fight ensued. Eleven soldiers were severely injured and several negroes were shot. The troops broke rank in the fight and fled, and the rioters gained possession of the city for a time. The mob was composed of the worst elements in St. Thomas, and the better class of residents were terrorised. Scores of houses were sacked and many women brutally maltreated. Some of the wealthier residents sought safety on the ships. Reinforcements were summoned from St. Croix, and the rioting was eventually quelled.

TOWN BURNED.

MOSCOW (NEVSKA), September 23.—An incendiary fire yesterday destroyed the town of Bouctouche. Several hundred houses were burned, the loss being estimated at $100,000.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT.

CAIRO, September 23.—The feeling of unrest which usually prevails among a certain class of Egyptians is illustrated to-day by a violent editorial in "El Ahram," the principal native newspaper. The article is headed "Egypt for the Egyptians," and the writer actually urges the Khedive to collect his faithful servants and "expel the intruders," namely, the British soldiers and the foreigners in the service of the Egyptian Government.

TYPHOON IN JAPANESE ISLANDS.

NEW YORK, September 23.—The Liu-Kiu Islands have, according to a despatch received to-day, been swept by a typhoon, which wrought terrible devastation. It is represented that no less than 5,000 buildings were completely demolished and six hundred persons were drowned, many persons on shore being killed by falling buildings.

ASSAULT ON A PARK RECITER.

Thomas Jackson, 47, tailor, Harrow-street, Lisson Grove, was charged at Marlborough-street Police Court on Friday with having assaulted William Humphreys, an elderly man, who gains a livelihood by singing ballads and giving Shakespearean recitals in the streets. Humphreys, one of whose eyes was inflamed, said that he was reciting in Hyde Park on Thursday when the prisoner came up and commenced to mock and in other ways make fun of him. Stopping his recital for a moment, he asked Jackson to be quiet and allow him to get an honest living. A few minutes later he was struck by a missile on the eye with such force that he nearly fell off his chair and had to be led out of the crowd. Henry Walker, a waiter, of Great Smith-street, Westminster, said that he was standing just behind the prisoner and saw him throw a piece of turf at Jackson. A deposed that when he took him into custody Jackson said that several others were throwing at the old gentleman, and that he had no intention of hurting him.—Mr. Newton fined Jackson 15s., with the alternative of going to prison for five days.

The Marchioness of Aberghenny, who has been ill for some time, died on Friday afternoon at her residence, Kedge Castle, near Tunbridge Wells.

DEATH OF THE DUKE OF SUTHERLAND.

The Duke of Sutherland died rather suddenly at half past 10 o'clock on Thursday evening. The announcement has been received with painful surprise throughout the north of Scotland. His grace had been staying at Dunrobin Castle, and intended being present on Thursday at the Northern Meeting at Inverness, having entered the names of the duchess and himself. About midnight on Wednesday he became suddenly ill from a severe chill which brought on gastric disturbance. As the day advanced the Duke's illness assumed an alarming form and on the advice of Dr. Simpson, who was in attendance, further medical aid was summoned from Edinburgh, and the Marquis of Stafford, who was in the Isle of Wight, and the Earl of Cromartie were telegraphed for. The duke, however, never recovered, and was expected, for the patient expired at 10.30 on Thursday night. The Duchess of Sutherland was present, but the Earl of Cromartie, who had travelled to Dunrobin by special train, arrived some ten minutes after his father's death. The Marquis of Stafford, who succeeds to the title, is now in the north of Scotland. The suddenness of the end created a profound impression at the Northern Meeting Ball. In the morning the Marchioness of Stafford and the Countess of Cromartie had been in town taking a landing part at the ceremony of opening the Highland Exhibition of Home Industries, and were unaware of the duke's grave condition. At Dunrobin the event has come with such alarming suddenness that the duchess and her friends were utterly prostrated, and no arrangements for the funeral have yet been made, though it is probable that the duke's remains will be interred at Dunrobin.

A PATHETIC STORY FROM THE SEA.

A touching story of sisterly affection on the part of a child is told of a little passenger by the steamer Bothnia, now in quarantine in the harbour at New York. Edith and Muriel Keeling, aged 9 and 6 years respectively, travelled by the steamer, with no relative or guardian in charge of them. Three years ago they came to England, where they have been staying with friends. Upon the death of their father their mother married again, and the children travelled by the Bothnia to rejoin their mother in New York. On the voyage they became the pets of the ship, talking of nothing but home. Edith was seized with hemorrhage of the lungs, and on Sunday, the 11th inst., the doctor thought she would be unable to survive the night. He told some of the passengers this, and Muriel overheard him. A little while afterwards two passengers, Messdames Frethey and Blackie, went to the children's state room and found them lying in each other's arms, Muriel sobbing violently, and one of the ladies told the little girl what she had heard. "They say you are going to die," "Oh, don't let me die," Muriel sobbed piteously. "The ladies tried to sooth the agitated little ones, and Edith replied, 'I know I cannot live long, but I should like to live to see mamma. It would break her heart if Muriel goes back alone.' Capt. Hewitson, upon learning the facts, asked the doctor if any thing could be done to prolong the girl's life. The doctor suggested a larger room, and the captain gave up his own cabin to the children. The two ladies already named nursed Edith, who constantly spoke of her mother, whom she expected to meet in New York. The mother is now Mrs. Lowell, and resides in Cambridge, Mass. She did not appear until the vessel reached the port on the 17th inst. Edith was bitterly disappointed and completely broken down with grief. She cried, "What shall I do? There is so little time left." Mrs. Frethey endeavoured to comfort her, and accompanied her to the Ellis Island Hospital. Soon after the child-planet was landed, Mrs. Lowell arrived in New York and hurried to the hospital, Edith, lying prostrate in bed, opened her arms to clasp her, crying joyfully, "Oh, mamma, I am glad to have seen you again. I have brought Muriel safe across the ocean, as I promised you." She then fainted away. The doctors say she can only live a few days.

MRS. MAYBRICK.

On Friday afternoon, by permission of the Home Office, Mrs. Maybrick was visited at Knaphill Prison by her mother, the Baroness von Roques. The visit was extended to one hour.

MR. GLADSTONE ON HOME RULE.

REPLY TO THE DUKES OF AROULT.

The North American Review, which appeared on Saturday, contained an article from Mr. Gladstone, entitled "A Vindication of Home Rule: Reply to the Duke of Argyll." Mr. Gladstone set himself the task of refuting an article contributed by the duke which attempted to show a close analogy between the struggle of the North against the Southern Confederacy and the struggle to maintain the present form of Government in Ireland—a form of Government to which the Irish people have never constitutionally assented, and which the duke himself knows the abhor. The Irish people support their allegation that the present form of government is totally unsuitable to their practical legislative wants by returning five-sixths or four-fifths of their Parliamentary representatives to uphold them. Mr. Gladstone repels the duke's charge of historical unworthiness, and declares that his grace has not refuted a single one of his statements, and has never examined them more than he has examined Irish history itself. The Prime Minister then proceeds to defend the accuracy of his description of the bill of 1886.

A BURGLAR HUNT.

A burglar on Thursday night was found concealed in a gentleman's residence at Heywood. An alarm was raised, and the man escaped to the roof, whither he was pursued by a man named Taylor. The latter, however, lost his balance and fell from the house, with the result that his arms and legs were broken.

Mary Chambers, aged 66, Alstead-road, Brixton, was knocked down last week by a horse, and the wheel of a van passed over her. At St. Thomas's Hospital it was found that she had sustained a compound fracture of the leg.

THE FATAL PRIZE FIGHT AT NORTHAMPTON.

RESUMED INQUEST AND VERDICT.

The inquest respecting the death of William Langley, alias "Dobbs," 25 years of age, a shoemaker, of Northampton, who, it is alleged, died from injuries received during a fight on the 10th inst., was resumed on Tuesday night before Mr. C. C. Becke, borough coroner (who defended Macrae). There were four solicitors for the seven prisoners, who were committed each defendant was present. Frank Patrick spoke to seeing the fight, and said that "Natty" Jones was present. Ernest White also saw the fight, and identified Memory as a man who knocked Langley about. Also saw a man named Sep Keller fanning him. Langley, in the end, was knocked, and was unable to get up again. (Sensation in court.) Memory had two black eyes, but was not knocked about half so much as the other man. Saw Langley put in a cab. The fight lasted two hours. Smith was missing about all the time.—Chris Pulley, who was present, recognised Memory as one of the fighters and knew Langley was the other. Jones was among the men, also saw Jones there. Some of the spectators said it was about time the fight was stopped, but others said go on with it. Did not hear any bets made.—John Pulley also gave evidence, stating that Langley was so knocked about that he could hardly stand on his legs. Several other witnesses spoke to seeing most of the prisoners there, and Insp. Webster stated that Memory, when charged, said the seconds were worse than he. Smith and Collins, he said, denied being present, but the others admitted it.—Christopher Pulley, recalled, was asked whether Langley was able to defend himself, to which he replied that whenever he was knocked down he was not able to get up again without assistance. (Sensation.) On the advice of the solicitors, all the defendants declined to be sworn.—The coroner said that although he had the right to compel them to come forward and give evidence he did not think it right to do so in the circumstances. The fact of their declining had a certain amount of significance which could not escape the minds of the jury, and they must draw their own conclusions from their silence.—Verdict of manslaughter was returned against Stephen Memory, alias "Clayton," Sep Keller (not yet in custody), "Natty" Jones, "Porter" Smith, "Jonah" Welch, and "Rotten" Pearson. Collins was not sworn to as being present.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of two other men.

ALLEGED WHOLESALE WATCH ROBBERY.

Samuel Gane Harper, 57, commercial traveller, residing at Pinner, was charged on remand at the Guildhall Police Court with having obtained on the 30th of May, six watches from the London Watch and Sales Company, Limited, with intent to defraud. He was further charged with obtaining £10 by false pretences on the same date; also with forging and uttering an undertaking for the payment of money on the 25th of May.—Mr. St. John, W.C., stated that the prisoner had repudiated that he had travelled largely amongst jewellers in Scotland, and could introduce 400 accounts. On the strength of this and other statements he was engaged as a traveller at a salary of £3 per week, with all expenses—travelling, hotel, &c. The question of guarantee was raised, and the prisoner was asked to produce a much larger salary than this, and therefore he could not accept this as a permanent affair so far as income was concerned. And in consequence of this low salary he would give a private reference, handing in the name of Mr. Ransom, Kister House, Torquay. This person was represented as being a gentleman of private means. A printed form was sent to Mr. Ransom, and it was returned filled up as a guarantee of £300 for the proper discharge of the business of the prisoner. This guarantee he (Mr. Wootter) would prove was in the handwriting of the prisoner, and that being so, there was no doubt that this was a forged writing. The meaning of the Act. The prisoner was engaged, and on the day of the engagement accused was given £10 to make a start with, also the value of three watches, the value of which was £150. He started, and amongst his other instructions was one that the watches were not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into custody at Pinner.—Mr. Pinder, manager of the prosecuting firm, gave evidence, and in answer to Mr. Lawless, for the defence, said that when this was settled, the prisoner was not to be parted with on any account. They were given to him as samples. He started, but so unsatisfactory were his business transactions that he was written to cease his connection with the company. He did not return, nor was the property returned. As they lost his whereabouts, Mr. Gane Harper, of Torquay, was written to, but no reply was received from him. Eventually the accused was given into

A MALE DOMESTIC SERVANT.
Angie de Launay, of Montague-place, appeared at Bow-street Police Court, to an Ecclesiastical summons for keeping a male servant without a license.—Mr. Squires, who prosecuted, said that the defendant had employed a male servant for a domestic servant, and was under the impression that she need not take out a license.—Defendant: Yes, I am very domesticated, and prefer him to a general servant.—Mr. Squires pointed out that a male general servant required a license. Defendant: He does not take out under any definition in the paper sent to me. He is not a page.—Mr. Squires said that the Act of Parliament spoke of persons who in any capacity discharged the duties of the class of domestics enumerated. The boy opened the door.—Defendant said only sometimes, and in her absence she was not in the house.—Mr. Squires asked Mr. Unlacks, an officer of Excise, stated that he called several times at defendant's, and that the door was opened by the boy. He said he slept in the house.—Mr. Lushington said that the defendant had a lad living in the house and discharging the duties of a domestic servant, and incurred a mitigated penalty of 30s. and 2s. costs.

AGRICULTURE IN NORTH WALES.
A correspondent telegraphs that not one-half the harvest has been completed on the Flintshire and Denbighshire hills. Rain has fallen in torrents since Tuesday afternoon, and the grain is in a deplorable condition, most of it having been cut a fortnight. Coupled with the failure of the hay crop, and the heavy fall in the price of horned cattle and sheep, the agricultural outlook in North Wales is very dismal. A commodious estate has just been sold near Mold for £2,000, for which fifteen years back 40,500 was declined. Whatever the cause, the agricultural crisis in North Wales is rapidly becoming acute.

SAVE YOUR LIVES BY TAKING OWBRIDGE'S
LUNG TONIC,
THE MIGHTY HEALER.

It has a power over disease hitherto unknown in medicine.
Are You at all Weak-spirited, or inclined to be Consumptive, with just a touch of Cough, and the Weakness of the Chest, try this wonderful Medicine. The Cure is rapid, and the result is certain, and you will feel a strength and power you never had before.

HAVE YOU A COUGH?
A DOSE WILL RELIEVE IT.
HAVE YOU A COLD?
A DOSE AT BEDTIME WILL REMOVE IT.

BROUCHITIS AND ASTHMA IT CURES
INSTANTLY.

The Spasms of Coughing, so dreadful to the Sufferer, Cease, become less with each dose of the Medicine.

"I think it hardly to state a wonderful instance of the value of your Lung Tonic.
For several weeks my baby, aged 1 month, has suffered from Cough. After due advice him no good. I tried other remedies, but without success. I then procured a bottle of a Friend, I tried your Lung Tonic, and found, and all other children who have been suffered from dreadful whooping Cough, My baby now is quite well, and great relief."
J. STALLER, 5, Wimpole-street, Leicester.

Prepared by W. T. OWBRIDGE, Chemist,
10, Abchurch-lane, in London, E.C. 4, and, 11c, by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors, in London and Provincial Towns.

COCKLE'S PILLS.
COCKLE'S	FOR BILE,	PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S	FOR LIVER,	PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S	FOR ACIDITY,	PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S	FOR HEARTBURN,	PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S	FOR INDIGESTION	PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S		PILLS.
COCKLE'S	FREE FROM	PILLS.
COCKLE'S	MERCURY.	PILLS.

An extract from the second edition (page 107) of the Transactions of the Pharmacopoeia of the Royal College of Physicians of London, by Dr. G. F. Collins, published by Longman & Co.

"It is an small defect in this compilation (speaking of the First Pharmacopoeia) that, we have no purgative medicine that can be taken alone, yet we know that a mercurial person cannot bear alone, alone, it be in the form of COCKLE'S PILLS.

"I think no better and no worse of it for its having a Purgative Medicine. I look at it as an article of commerce and domestic convenience, and do not hesitate to say it is the best made in the Kingdom."

CARTER'S

CARRIERS
LITTLE LIVER PILLS

SMALL FILL
SMALL DOSE.
SMALL PRICE
FOURTY
IN A VIAL
SUGAR COATED.
PURELY VEGETABLE.
CURE TORPID LIVER
WITHOUT FAIL.
OF ALL CHEMISTS
1st 118

CARTER'S
LITTLE
LIVER
PILL

By LARRY LYNX.

Pneumatic tyres, such as were applied to the sulk of Nancy Hanks, took to the American track much better than the made English model record of 2min. 53sec., were introduced into England for the first time Monday last at Alexandra Park. They were used in the struggle for the Champion Cup, in which Kowley, the English rider, holder of the record, Billy C. and the latter was harnessed to a sulky with small pneumatic wheels, such as are used on safety bicycles, while the wheels of Kowley's sulky were fully half an inch larger. There is in connection with these tyres a certain amount of loss accounted for in the matter of speed rather both bicycling and trotting. On Monday Billy C., who never before trotted a 2min. wheel, 43sec., covered that distance in 2min. 35sec. On the other hand, the smaller sulky did not help Kowley, who evidently got out of form, as he could not run to his own record. The small wheel, it ment at I noticed in some of the Monmouth papers expressions of surprise that Kibbleswhite should be beaten by Bredin in the two yards race. It should be remembered that the race is a reasonable one, and that Bredin, with no previous experience over such a journey, defeated the Swindon runner at Reading, a race excepting on heavy or uneven ground, and always do so again. Kibbleswhite has won our best heat of the finishing under a mile, and the trial of finishing which few athletes with his reputation would care to take. As regards the level sprint, it seems as though the winner, H. Smith, of the Finchley Harriers, is by far the best man in the county, for he has been twice pasted since youth—we have had youth just now.

As Wase and Newlands rode 23 miles to vary the pace, and Horne Hill on a tandem race last Saturday, it must now be conceded that the tandem safety with two men up is the fastest machine of all types.

up for sentence next session.

FIMPLES, BLOTCHES, ECHYMAE.—Sulpholine Lotion away Eruptions, Spots, Blisters, Redness, Acne, Dis-tends, Roughness and Scurf leaving a Clear, Spotless
Shining Surface of Sulpholine. Everywhere.—[Adv.]

GIRL'S COMMUNION GARMENT.—A Paper Pattern useful garment is given away with Mrs. LEACH'S CHILDREN'S BIBLES for October, also a fine dress of the same material for a stylish costume and Cape. All Newmarket by post two stamps.—Mrs. LEACH, 2, Johnson's Street, London.—[Adv.]

NOTE. BOXES WERE BOXES OF CIGARETTES, . . .

AN OBJECTION TO SIR WILFRID LAWSON.

At Wigton Brewster Sessions, Mr. M. T. applied for an off beer licence in connection with his brewery. He objected to Sir Wilfrid Lawson sitting on the bench during the trial of the case, because he considered the disapproval of his licensing laws still remained in Sir Wilfrid Lawson's head, and he had written a letter in which he said, "Magistrates are entrusted with jurisdiction over drink shops for the express purpose of putting them down." Any man holding such views could not hold an unbiased mind. The bench refused to accept the apparent case notice of appeal, and the ground that Sir Wilfrid Lawson was on the bench.

CHIFFORD MOUNT COUNTRY. (Continued.)
 18. Children from 2 to 14 adults from 14 to 17 years

This bird, an ordinary blue rock, if I remember right—
 the kind of blue the tin snapper, and the quiverfish allowed the guilty man to keep it in his cell.

On the morning of his death he presented it to the warden, and four years afterward it was regular inmate of the penitentiary. Transferring its affections to the new owner was no trouble, for the bird was a native of the same new about the corridors and precincts of the prison.
 The warden was a good fellow, and he said the bird would often spare a morsel of their scanty food for it.

I may mention that among the prisoners of the penitentiary, the bird was a favorite. The guilty man whose crime, they maintained, was committed by a person named "Bird," the bird of the silver bird, was of this community.

The public often receives erroneous notions of the character of most prisoners. The man who shot James Tarry, the murderer, was generally represented as a person of low character, and of a low type of people; that, on the contrary, he was as good a man as they had in the state.
 Owing to the illness of a principal prisoner, the warden was obliged to keep him for a day or two absolutely prisoner in Newgate.

The sensation of being alone in that cell, after having been surrounded by men, who dragged their lengths along as he would have every day in his penitentiary cell, was a new experience. The man who shot James Tarry, however, was a good fellow, and he said the bird would often spare a morsel of their scanty food for it.

At length, after a long and hard many weeks, I received the information from my solicitor that my trial was imminent.

1. Journal of the American Medical Association, 1997; 277: 1033-1038.

MRS. HINDS writes on July 2nd, 1903:—"I have a very bad leg, and the doctors told me I should have my leg taken off, but I was told about

"A BOON TO LADIES."

"A BOON TO LADIES."
"A BOON TO LADIES."
"A BOON TO LADIES."
"A BOON TO LADIES."

A RETIRED ENGLISH SURGEON SPECIAL.

WE'LL FORWARD (free of charge) full particulars of our new system, during which we have practised in England and the Colonies, he had never known to fail in the most difficult cases.

Forward address enclosed for full particulars. I waste no time in this matter. I have been overlooked, neglected, and, worse, in the same cases, are talking but purgative, and making most, prostration, and, worse, in the same desired result.

Letters to be addressed,
RESIDENT STREET, LIVERPOOL, GOTHIC HOUSE,
9, RESKINE STREET, LIVERPOOL.

"WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD"
THE FEMALE MURDER
FEMALE MURDER
THE SPECIAL SESSIONS OF LAWS related to the following SPARKLE GENTLE TESTIMONIAL. This lady had GIVEN HERSELF, taking up and down and SPENT POUNDS IN VAIN on other things, but after taking up a GOTHIC murder testimonial she was relieved, immerse Let every lady carefully read this testimonial and see that she is taking up a similar relief.
THOUSANDS OF LADIES have been relieved from the same trouble. RESTORE DOCTOR'S BILLS SAID.

"Dear Mr. Bank: I am very happy to the medicine which you have recommended.
The following is a list of the persons who has relieved me on the third day, and I have in left. I have been very much relieved.
I would not have saved five pounds and the Company my self.
I have been very much relieved. I have until I have done something for them for happily. But I have been very much otherwise I would have called them—
I have found.

"Dear Mr. Bank, I have called them is a trial, true, and correct translation of the letter, written by the following persons:
SIGNED BY THE ABOVE-NAMED PERSONS:
WALTER C. WILLIAMS, 24,
24, Chamberlain Road, London,
The above is a correct translation of the GLASS. In addition, each of ten use of the Medicine in useful cases in the most Sent by return post, under cover, for
THE TRISTEM COMPANY,
55, DENMARK STREET, LONDON,
Personal service, by appointment.

THE GREAT
MERCK & CO.

THE
EXP. EN.
THE
each,
and.
King's MALE
acome.
the unlay,
for the
for the

THE FEMALE
REMEDY

THIS RENOWNED MEDICINE IS DOUBT the most effective and reputable and efficacious from want to be the QUICKEST. THIS MOST CER-RELIABLE preparation IS NEVER YET FAILS to relieve the most distressing symptoms.
MOST OBSTACLES are quickly quickly brings about all that is required.

HUNDREDS OF TESTIMONIALS PROve the following extracts amply prove.
Letters can be seen.

"Palokehwa-road
"Dear Madam Selborne,--You will hear the medicine you sent to me fortu-nously relieved me. I am now now, thanks to your wonderful medicine, the most comfortable and relief is not the greater after the mistake of the last time. I am, dear Madam, your obedient servant,
"Charles-street, W.M.
"September 1848
"Dear Madam,--Thank you for your rouge and pink and marvellous
and."

second best in the dearest best. But I know from whom I had such a splendid
Your very truly,
Madam, Harriet, Sept.

"Mrs. M." desires to thank Madam Thorne for the letter she received of Madam Selborne to all her friends
Greenwood, West Ham, Essex, Sept.

"Madam," I have been very much pleased to hear of the being in full of life, and have been as well as the others, and have been marvellous, recently will very soon forget your kindness and skill in her one - Yours very truly,
Mrs. M.

ONE THIRTY IS QUITE SUFFICIENT FOR THE SALE.

SAFE, CERTAIN, HARMLESS, PERFECT, PROMPT, PAINLESS,
RELIABLE, AND GUARANTEED FACT (SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED BY THE LANCET).

MADAME SELBORNE
43, SOMERSET-ROAD,
LONDON, W.

[illegible]

Dear Madam, - My husband was well to go for another bottle of your Nerve
He thinks that he has done his duty
I would thank you to say my friends
are well - Yours respectfully,
Gustave, rue de Valenciennes
Paris - 10

Dear Madam - I am very pleased to satisfy you. I shall be glad to send you four bottles to say my friends
are well - Yours respectfully,
Matton-street, Southwark
London - 10

Dear Madam - I am glad to hear of the desired effect. I shall recommend your treatment to all my friends.
Yours respectfully,
Newthorpe-street, Arkwright-street
London - 10

Madame Frain - I am glad to hear you were satisfactory again yesterday.
I am glad to hear of the medicine and the bottle you give greatest thanks.
Yours respectfully,
Paris - 10

Dear Mr. Escom. Street, Paris -
Your kind letter is in my hands
I am glad to hear of the medicine and the bottle you give greatest thanks.
Yours respectfully,
Paris - 10

"Peel-street, Trimmers August 25
 "Dear Madam, I should not have on Saturday. I am indeed thankful
 I am well again. I have spent much it to my friends. I have spent much now, but to no good result. - Yours truly,
 I will FORFEIT ONE HUNDRED EVERY TESTIMONIAL that is
 and they CAN BE SEEN AT HERBAL INSTITUTE
 1A, HAGENET-ROAD (opposite Church), LONDON, N.
 MADAME FRAIN'S
 FAMOUS FEMALE

SPORTS OF THE PEOPLE.

(The Events of the Week up to Thursday Night will be found in "LARRY LYNN'S" Article.)

RACING.

MANCHESTER SEPTEMBER MEETING.

1. Maiden Plate, 120 lbs. (M. Cannon), 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100. 101. 102. 103. 104. 105. 106. 107. 108. 109. 110. 111. 112. 113. 114. 115. 116. 117. 118. 119. 120. 121. 122. 123. 124. 125. 126. 127. 128. 129. 130. 131. 132. 133. 134. 135. 136. 137. 138. 139. 140. 141. 142. 143. 144. 145. 146. 147. 148. 149. 150. 151. 152. 153. 154. 155. 156. 157. 158. 159. 160. 161. 162. 163. 164. 165. 166. 167. 168. 169. 170. 171. 172. 173. 174. 175. 176. 177. 178. 179. 180. 181. 182. 183. 184. 185. 186. 187. 188. 189. 190. 191. 192. 193. 194. 195. 196. 197. 198. 199. 200. 201. 202. 203. 204. 205. 206. 207. 208. 209. 210. 211. 212. 213. 214. 215. 216. 217. 218. 219. 220. 221. 222. 223. 224. 225. 226. 227. 228. 229. 230. 231. 232. 233. 234. 235. 236. 237. 238. 239. 240. 241. 242. 243. 244. 245. 246. 247. 248. 249. 250. 251. 252. 253. 254. 255. 256. 257. 258. 259. 260. 261. 262. 263. 264. 265. 266. 267. 268. 269. 270. 271. 272. 273. 274. 275. 276. 277. 278. 279. 280. 281. 282. 283. 284. 285. 286. 287. 288. 289. 290. 291. 292. 293. 294. 295. 296. 297. 298. 299. 300. 301. 302. 303. 304. 305. 306. 307. 308. 309. 310. 311. 312. 313. 314. 315. 316. 317. 318. 319. 320. 321. 322. 323. 324. 325. 326. 327. 328. 329. 330. 331. 332. 333. 334. 335. 336. 337. 338. 339. 340. 341. 342. 343. 344. 345. 346. 347. 348. 349. 350. 351. 352. 353. 354. 355. 356. 357. 358. 359. 360. 361. 362. 363. 364. 365. 366. 367. 368. 369. 370. 371. 372. 373. 374. 375. 376. 377. 378. 379. 380. 381. 382. 383. 384. 385. 386. 387. 388. 389. 390. 391. 392. 393. 394. 395. 396. 397. 398. 399. 400. 401. 402. 403. 404. 405. 406. 407. 408. 409. 410. 411. 412. 413. 414. 415. 416. 417. 418. 419. 420. 421. 422. 423. 424. 425. 426. 427. 428. 429. 430. 431. 432. 433. 434. 435. 436. 437. 438. 439. 440. 441. 442. 443. 444. 445. 446. 447. 448. 449. 450. 451. 452. 453. 454. 455. 456. 457. 458. 459. 460. 461. 462. 463. 464. 465. 466. 467. 468. 469. 470. 471. 472. 473. 474. 475. 476. 477. 478. 479. 480. 481. 482. 483. 484. 485. 486. 487. 488. 489. 490. 491. 492. 493. 494. 495. 496. 497. 498. 499. 500. 501. 502. 503. 504. 505. 506. 507. 508. 509. 510. 511. 512. 513. 514. 515. 516. 517. 518. 519. 520. 521. 522. 523. 524. 525. 526. 527. 528. 529. 530. 531. 532. 533. 534. 535. 536. 537. 538. 539. 540. 541. 542. 543. 544. 545. 546. 547. 548. 549. 550. 551. 552. 553. 554. 555. 556. 557. 558. 559. 560. 561. 562. 563. 564. 565. 566. 567. 568. 569. 570. 571. 572. 573. 574. 575. 576. 577. 578. 579. 580. 581. 582. 583. 584. 585. 586. 587. 588. 589. 590. 591. 592. 593. 594. 595. 596. 597. 598. 599. 600. 601. 602. 603. 604. 605. 606. 607. 608. 609. 610. 611. 612. 613. 614. 615. 616. 617. 618. 619. 620. 621. 622. 623. 624. 625. 626. 627. 628. 629. 630. 631. 632. 633. 634. 635. 636. 637. 638. 639. 640. 641. 642. 643. 644. 645. 646. 647. 648. 649. 650. 651. 652. 653. 654. 655. 656. 657. 658. 659. 660. 661. 662. 663. 664. 665. 666. 667. 668. 669. 670. 671. 672. 673. 674. 675. 676. 677. 678. 679. 680. 681. 682. 683. 684. 685. 686. 687. 688. 689. 690. 691. 692. 693. 694. 695. 696. 697. 698. 699. 700. 701. 702. 703. 704. 705. 706. 707. 708. 709. 710. 711. 712. 713. 714. 715. 716. 717. 718. 719. 720. 721. 722. 723. 724. 725. 726. 727. 728. 729. 730. 731. 732. 733. 734. 735. 736. 737. 738. 739. 740. 741. 742. 743. 744. 745. 746. 747. 748. 749. 750. 751. 752. 753. 754. 755. 756. 757. 758. 759. 760. 761. 762. 763. 764. 765. 766. 767. 768. 769. 770. 771. 772. 773. 774. 775. 776. 777. 778. 779. 780. 781. 782. 783. 784. 785. 786. 787. 788. 789. 790. 791. 792. 793. 794. 795. 796. 797. 798. 799. 800. 801. 802. 803. 804. 805. 806. 807. 808. 809. 810. 811. 812. 813. 814. 815. 816. 817. 818. 819. 820. 821. 822. 823. 824. 825. 826. 827. 828. 829. 830. 831. 832. 833. 834. 835. 836. 837. 838. 839. 840. 841. 842. 843. 844. 845. 846. 847. 848. 849. 850. 851. 852. 853. 854. 855. 856. 857. 858. 859. 860. 861. 862. 863. 864. 865. 866. 867. 868. 869. 870. 871. 872. 873. 874. 875. 876. 877. 878. 879. 880. 881. 882. 883. 884. 885. 886. 887. 888. 889. 890. 891. 892. 893. 894. 895. 896. 897. 898. 899. 900. 901. 902. 903. 904. 905. 906. 907. 908. 909. 910. 911. 912. 913. 914. 915. 916. 917. 918. 919. 920. 921. 922. 923. 924. 925. 926. 927. 928. 929. 930. 931. 932. 933. 934. 935. 936. 937. 938. 939. 940. 941. 942. 943. 944. 945. 946. 947. 948. 949. 950. 951. 952. 953. 954. 955. 956. 957. 958. 959. 960. 961. 962. 963. 964. 965. 966. 967. 968. 969. 970. 971. 972. 973. 974. 975. 976. 977. 978. 979. 980. 981. 982. 983. 984. 985. 986. 987. 988. 989. 990. 991. 992. 993. 994. 995. 996. 997. 998. 999. 1000.

THE ALLEGED LITERARY

FRAUDS.

At the Central Criminal Court, Sir Gilbert Edward Campbell, William James Morgan, David Tolmer, 42, Charles Morgan, 42, Joseph Sidney Tomkins, 35, and Mr. J. L. Walton (G.), Mr. Mahon (Labour) having been disqualified through an informalism in his nomination papers. The result of the poll was declared as follows:—

Walton (G.) 4,414
Neville (G.) 3,406

Majority 1,008

In 1885, Sir Lyon Playfair was returned by a majority of 2,339, the voting being—Playfair (L.), 2,339; Mackenzie (C.), 2,339. At the election in the following year Sir Lyon Playfair's majority was decreased to 1,740, the polling being—Playfair (L.), 1,740; Mackenzie (C.), 1,740. At the recent general election the Gladstonian majority fell to 1,335, the voting being—Playfair (G.), 4,339; Neville (C.), 3,394.

Speaking at the Conservative Club after the declaration of the result, Mr. Neville made a speech in which he asked: "Where now stands the Gladstonian majority of 1,300 in 1885? Instead of four it is now reduced to three figures. The Radical press has predicted for Mr. Walton a majority of 2,000; that he would fight a better battle than Lord Playfair had done; but how stood the feeling of South Leeds that day? The Unionists had been told that they ought to be ashamed of themselves, that they were the thing of which there had been such a Unionist poll as that the mayor had just announced? Mr. Neville continued: "But we shall do better next time, depend upon it. I thank you for all you have done, and I am sure you ought to take encouragement in prosecuting your endeavours for the return of the whole borough of Leeds."

Mr. Walton, speaking at the Liberal Club, stated that after the powerful candidate, Baron Playfair, he thought that as an unknown man in the constituency, he had done remarkably well.

Mr. John Lawson Walton, Q.C., of Cannon Hill, is the eldest son of the Rev. John Walton, of Greshamstead, South Africa, ex-President of the Wesleyan Conference, and was born in August, 1852. He was educated at the University of London, and was entered as a student at the Inner Temple at the usual age. He was called to the bar in June, 1877 (having in the previous year gained the first prize in the common law examination), and has since been a member of the Inner Temple. He has recently obtained silk. He married in 1882 Johanna, only daughter of Mr. Robert Hoddwick, of Glasgow.

SOUTH BEDFORDSHIRE ELECTION.

On Saturday the nomination of candidates to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Mr. Cyril Flower (G.) to the peerage took place. The candidates were—Colonel Duke (U.), and Mr. Whitbread (U.). At the general election the figures were:—Mr. Cyril Flower (G.), 5,296; Colonel Duke (U.), 4,277.

NORTH ESSEX.—Mr. Herbert Gardner (G.), President of the Board of Agriculture, was returned unopposed on Thursday morning for the Saffron Walden Division of Essex.

EAST GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—The canvass is being actively pursued on both sides, and meetings are being held nightly. Mr. Meredith, secretary to the Western Union of Conservative Associations, has made a tour of his headquarters, and Mr. Col. Chester-Master has also the advantage of the support of Mr. C. Darling, M.P. Mr. Ellett, the chief agent, is making the canvass as perfect as possible, and there is every prospect of the contest being thoroughly well fought.

A MURDERER'S STRANGE DREAM.

James Mitchell, the man who recently murdered his mother and pulled out her tongue, near Ballinasloe, has informed the police that the reason he committed the crime was that he had dreamed on several occasions, and particularly on the night of the murder, that if he killed his mother and pulled out her tongue, he would be the richest man in the land.

PIGSTY AND BOAT AS RESIDENCES.

At a special sitting of the Newington Police Board it was resolved that a domestic pigsty and a boat which had been turned upside down, and the other had whitewashed a pigsty to use as a residence. The furniture had already been brought down and located. In the discussion which arose it was contended that people had perfect right to live in boats either on land or on water, and that they were movable dwellings, and that these people were pitmen who had been compelled to leave Woodhorn Mill, and no residence of any kind was to be found for them. Temporary sanitary wood houses were suggested, but no definite resolution of any kind was arrived at.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A GIRL.

The Cheshire police are investigating the circumstances attending the mysterious disappearance of a girl, who for the past ten years had been in the employment of Mr. Barker, of Wardle Hall, Cheshire. On Sunday night she left her parents' home in company with her sweetheart. At the railway station they parted at 8.25, he proceeding to his home by rail. She never returned, and from that time every trace of her was lost. Mr. Barker, who has searched all the pits and fields in the neighbourhood, and on Thursday and Friday procured grapples and nets, dragged the Shropshire Union Canal for nearly two miles up and down from the spot without success. Great sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Barker, who are most respectable people.

THE RESULT OF JEALOUSY.

Mr. Campbell Yates held an inquest at Crewe on the body of Walter Powell, who shot his wife and then shot himself. George Powell said he was sleeping in a room adjoining that occupied by his father and mother, and that he was awakened by the report of a gun. He jumped out of bed, and saw his mother rushing downstairs. He found his father in bed. His mother was shot in the face, and his father in the chest. His father had lately become very jealous of his mother, but there was no justification for it. Dr. Powell admitted to him that he had shot his wife, and then shot himself. The wife was improving, but the man's case was hopeless from the first. Powell had told his wife of his jealousy of his wife, but so far as he knew, there was not the slightest cause for it. Mrs. Powell said that on the night preceding the shooting Mr. Powell came to the police station and stated she was afraid of her husband. A verdict of suicide while insane was returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone and party travelled by special train from Barmouth on Thursday, arriving at Clifton at 6.15 p.m. Mr. Gladstone looked remarkably well.

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

ELECTION INTELLIGENCE.

SOUTH LEEDS. RESULT.

The polling to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation to the peerage of Sir Lyon Playfair (G.) took place on Thursday. The candidates were Mr. R. J. Neville (C.), and Mr. J. L. Walton (G.). Mr. Mahon (Labour) having been disqualified through an informalism in his nomination papers. The result of the poll was declared as follows:—

Walton (G.) 4,414
Neville (G.) 3,406

Majority 1,008

In 1885, Sir Lyon Playfair was returned by a majority of 2,339, the voting being—Playfair (L.), 2,339; Mackenzie (C.), 2,339. At the election in the following year Sir Lyon Playfair's majority was decreased to 1,740, the polling being—Playfair (L.), 1,740; Mackenzie (C.), 1,740. At the recent general election the Gladstonian majority fell to 1,335, the voting being—Playfair (G.), 4,339; Neville (C.), 3,394.

Speaking at the Conservative Club after the declaration of the result, Mr. Neville made a speech in which he asked: "Where now stands the Gladstonian majority of 1,300 in 1885? Instead of four it is now reduced to three figures. The Radical press has predicted for Mr. Walton a majority of 2,000; that he would fight a better battle than Lord Playfair had done; but how stood the feeling of South Leeds that day? The Unionists had been told that they ought to be ashamed of themselves, that they were the thing of which there had been such a Unionist poll as that the mayor had just announced? Mr. Neville continued: "But we shall do better next time, depend upon it. I thank you for all you have done, and I am sure you ought to take encouragement in prosecuting your endeavours for the return of the whole borough of Leeds."

Mr. Walton, speaking at the Liberal Club, stated that after the powerful candidate, Baron Playfair, he thought that as an unknown man in the constituency, he had done remarkably well.

Mr. John Lawson Walton, Q.C., of Cannon Hill, is the eldest son of the Rev. John Walton, of Greshamstead, South Africa, ex-President of the Wesleyan Conference, and was born in August, 1852. He was educated at the University of London, and was entered as a student at the Inner Temple at the usual age. He was called to the bar in June, 1877 (having in the previous year gained the first prize in the common law examination), and has since been a member of the Inner Temple. He has recently obtained silk. He married in 1882 Johanna, only daughter of Mr. Robert Hoddwick, of Glasgow.

SOUTH BEDFORDSHIRE ELECTION.

On Saturday the nomination of candidates to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Mr. Cyril Flower (G.) to the peerage took place. The candidates were—Colonel Duke (U.), and Mr. Whitbread (U.). At the general election the figures were:—Mr. Cyril Flower (G.), 5,296; Colonel Duke (U.), 4,277.

NORTH ESSEX.—Mr. Herbert Gardner (G.), President of the Board of Agriculture, was returned unopposed on Thursday morning for the Saffron Walden Division of Essex.

EAST GLOUCESTERSHIRE.—The canvass is being actively pursued on both sides, and meetings are being held nightly. Mr. Meredith, secretary to the Western Union of Conservative Associations, has made a tour of his headquarters, and Mr. Col. Chester-Master has also the advantage of the support of Mr. C. Darling, M.P. Mr. Ellett, the chief agent, is making the canvass as perfect as possible, and there is every prospect of the contest being thoroughly well fought.

A MURDERER'S STRANGE DREAM.

James Mitchell, the man who recently murdered his mother and pulled out her tongue, near Ballinasloe, has informed the police that the reason he committed the crime was that he had dreamed on several occasions, and particularly on the night of the murder, that if he killed his mother and pulled out her tongue, he would be the richest man in the land.

PIGSTY AND BOAT AS RESIDENCES.

At a special sitting of the Newington Police Board it was resolved that a domestic pigsty and a boat which had been turned upside down, and the other had whitewashed a pigsty to use as a residence. The furniture had already been brought down and located. In the discussion which arose it was contended that people had perfect right to live in boats either on land or on water, and that they were movable dwellings, and that these people were pitmen who had been compelled to leave Woodhorn Mill, and no residence of any kind was to be found for them. Temporary sanitary wood houses were suggested, but no definite resolution of any kind was arrived at.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A GIRL.

The Cheshire police are investigating the circumstances attending the mysterious disappearance of a girl, who for the past ten years had been in the employment of Mr. Barker, of Wardle Hall, Cheshire. On Sunday night she left her parents' home in company with her sweetheart. At the railway station they parted at 8.25, he proceeding to his home by rail. She never returned, and from that time every trace of her was lost. Mr. Barker, who has searched all the pits and fields in the neighbourhood, and on Thursday and Friday procured grapples and nets, dragged the Shropshire Union Canal for nearly two miles up and down from the spot without success. Great sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Barker, who are most respectable people.

THE RESULT OF JEALOUSY.

Mr. Campbell Yates held an inquest at Crewe on the body of Walter Powell, who shot his wife and then shot himself. George Powell said he was sleeping in a room adjoining that occupied by his father and mother, and that he was awakened by the report of a gun. He jumped out of bed, and saw his mother rushing downstairs. He found his father in bed. His mother was shot in the face, and his father in the chest. His father had lately become very jealous of his mother, but there was no justification for it. Dr. Powell admitted to him that he had shot his wife, and then shot himself. The wife was improving, but the man's case was hopeless from the first. Powell had told his wife of his jealousy of his wife, but so far as he knew, there was not the slightest cause for it. Mrs. Powell said that on the night preceding the shooting Mr. Powell came to the police station and stated she was afraid of her husband. A verdict of suicide while insane was returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone and party travelled by special train from Barmouth on Thursday, arriving at Clifton at 6.15 p.m. Mr. Gladstone looked remarkably well.

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."

At the recent examination for twenty-nine vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, seventeen Oxford and six Cambridge men were successful, nearly all scholars of their respective colleges, who were justly proud of their University course, and thus only six places were left for the candidates trained by the "crammers."